

From collection

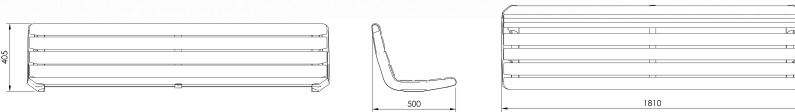

Lumio bench 180 cm wide with wooden seat and cast aluminum alloy structure for mounting on concrete base.

Concrete to be purchased separately.

The LLU013 model has a backrest.

The Lumio collection is based on elements cast from aluminum. The use of this technology allowed for the creation of extremely slim side profiles, giving the entire collection an optical lightness. At the same time, the construction material is extremely durable and resistant to weather conditions. The Lumio collection is a response to the demand for street furniture that impresses with its form and impresses with its durability.
